CHURCH MAY SELL PIECE OF PROPERTY, JUDGE RULES.

County Judge Frederick G. Traver has granted the applica-tion of the New Hurley Reformed Church for leave to sell a piece of real property owned by the church. The pastor, the Rev. Vernon Nagel, and members of the consistory asked leave of the court to sell 4.55 acres of land on the southerly side of the pub-lic road leading from The Flint to New Hurley Church. An offer of $375 from Edward Powell had been made for the land.

The application to the court states that the other real property owned by the church is valued at $15,000 and that the debt of the church is nominal. The land is situated in the town of Plattkill.

Home Institute EASY-TO-MAKE SLIP COVERS GIVE YOUR HOUSE A COOL INVITING AIR

How cool this lettuce green and frosty white striped chintz slip cover looks. Whip one to-gether yourself. It's easy!

First, Cut To Shape

Simply smooth the fabric wrong side out over the chair or sofa, a section at a time. Pin it securely to the seam lines of the old upholstery. Slip of the extra fabric, leaving 1½ inches for seam allowance. Also leave a 4-inch fold at A, to be tucked into the crevice between back and seat. This prevents strain on the fabric when your admir-ing friends sit down.

Second, Baste and Fit

Make little darts around sharp curves as at B to insure a smooth fit. Baste sections of slip cover together and try on, taking in or letting out seams until the cover fits like a glove.

Third, Stitch and Trim

Run up the seams on the sewing machine. An effective trim-ming for striped covers is a bounce pleated as at C. Only the dark stripes show. This gives the effect of a solid color, interesting for contrast.

Our 40-page booklet, MAK-ING SLIP COVERS SUCCESS-FULLY, gives clear diagrams and step-by-step directions for making all types of slip covers for every style of chair or sofa. Chapter on upholstering, too.

Send 15c for our booklet, MAKING SLIP COVERS suc-CESSFULLY, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Young Roosevelts Honeymoon

bride and her tall, athletically-built groom slipped out of sight the expert aid of the United States Secret Service.

Both President Roosevelt, father of the groom, and Mrs. velt conspired with a few members of the families and friends to keep the honeymoon plans secret. Mrs. Roosevelt has made many intimate family revelations in the past, made that this time she was "not going to tell."

There were reliable reports that on July 10 the young new-bounds go abroad on the liner Empress of Britain, but their whereabouts meanwhile was kept from the public.

The couple bade farewell to their families and 1,300 friends at a reception held at Owl's Nest, home of the bride's father, Eu-gene du Pont, last night after the wedding. Secret Service men such as guard the President, ad-vised the smiling couple as they slipped out into a rainy night.

The wedding rites were com-pleted at 4:14 p. m. (EST) yes-terday in Christ Protestant Epis-copal Church.

The 22-year-old husband and his bride, a year his junior, sought to force their parents from the spectator roles which both the Roosevelts and the du Ponts had played all day. At the reception Ethel whispered to the President. An instant later, he was the center of a flock of bridesmaids, all wanting a kiss.

Jolly Time.

Franklin repeated his father's toast to the bride, then proposed another: "To mother."

The First Lady smiled at him from her place in the reception line next to Mrs. Eugene du Pont, the bride's mother.

Gay camaraderie characterized du Pont's greeting to the President on the latter's visit home.

"Welcome to Owl's Nest," Pont said, bowing.

"Thank you, sir," said the ident, "and I'm coming back other time."

"The next time," rejoined host, "bring some white han-dkerchiefs. The President, appar-ently such a good time he de-wants to leave, stayed at the ce-reption almost two hours more than he had planned.

maid-of-honor, caught Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt returned the kisses to them by their newlywed and daughter.

The Rev. Endicott Peab-officiating minister, 32 years conducted the same ceremony Franklin's father when he married Eleanor Roosevelt in York.

JEROME WILLIAMS TALKS OF GENERAL G. H. SHARPE

(This is the last article written for publication by the late Jerome Williams. The letter was received in The Freeman office Thursday morning, about the same time the retired band-master died at his home on Delaware avenue.)

Editor, Kingston Freeman
Dear Sir:

The article published recently in The Freeman dedicated to the memory of General G. H. Sharpe, leads me to write of the following:

I have a four-page letter written by him, headed—"Office of the Provost Marshal General," while operating against Richmond, Va., dated September 1, 1864. In his usual graceful manner he describes his action as provost marshal general, and also mentions Generals Grant, Meade, Drake, and others in the Army of the Potomac. This interesting letter I purchased at a sale in Philadelphia.

A mutual interest in the Civil War actions led to an intimate friendship, and among his interesting mementos was a copy of E. Forbes War Etchings in a large portfolio that was an object of much interest to him. He had an extensive library, and I shall describe its destruction.

When the Sharpe property was sold for the erection of the Governor Clinton Hotel, either before or after the removal of the building, some of the most important and interesting items were given to the Senate House, and the library was given in its entirety to the Salvation Army. A very few of the books were sold locally, and the balance were sold to a junk dealer by the manager of the Salvation Army, for a mere pittance. The quantity that was sold weighed over half a ton, and it is impossible to estimate the value of these books at the present day prices for such books as they were mainly of an historical interest, and many of them were no doubt presentation copies from the authors. Undoubtedly many would have been headliners in a New York auctioneer's catalogue, and to sell them for junk, was a crime.

I managed to secure one book that the S. A. overlooked, "The Trial of the Assassin for the Murder of Abraham Lincoln." Hundreds of thousands of dollars would have been paid for them as General Sharpe was an ardent and extensive collector. Where ignorance is bliss was never more displayed than in this matter.

At the wedding of his daughter to Lieutenant Governor Davenport, I had the direction of the orchestra and was received and treated by the general more as a guest than an employee. On the occasion of the visit of General Grant to this city, the steamboat Herald, with a large assembly of Kingston's prominent citizens accompanied by Goeller's Band of which I was a member, sailed to Rhinecliff to meet General Grant.

General Sharpe was partial to the old Civil War songs, his favorite being, "Jordan Ave. a Hard Road to Travel." It was requested by him on this trip, and frequently played.

The erection by him of the monument to the memory of the 120th Regiment, should be a lasting memorial to General G. H. Sharpe—Kingston's most illustrious citizen.

JEROME WILLIAMS.

Arrange it by TELEPHONE

Perhaps you will be one of the thousands who will enjoy the "glorious Fourth" at the mountains, lakes or beaches.

Wherever you go, whatever you do, you're more certain of a carefree time if you let the telephone help you with the troublesome details. Telephone, when making your arrangements—to get the crowd together, to get information, to make sure of your reservations.

Whether you go this week-end or one of the many more ahead this summer, preparations will be made easier if you let the telephone help you. Calls to nearby places cost so little; and even to points much farther off, the reductions on Long Distance calls to most places every night after 7 and all day Sunday make out-of-town telephoning an inexpensive way of getting things done. ## Tokyo Envoy Warns Soviet to Remove All Troops on Amur Isles

WON'T GIVE INCH

Soviet Say They Don't Want Another's Land, Nor Will They Yield Inch of Own.

Moscow, July 1 (UP)—The Japanese ambassador to Russia ended a night conference at the foreign office early today with a warning to the Soviet government to evacuate all troops from the disputed Amur River islands immediately.

The Russian representative placed a sharp counter-protest with Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu and charged Japan was responsible for the outbreak of hostilities along the boundary of Russia and the Japanese inspired state of Manchoukuo.

Before the ambassador left for the critical midnight interview with M. Stomaniakov, the foreign minister, he indicated Japan does not consider the dispute over the sovereignty of the Amur River islands subject to diplomatic discussion.

He declared Japan intends to protect fully Manchoukuo's claim to the territory which the Soviet claims under two treaties signed with China in 1858 and 1860, seven decades before Manchoukuo became an independent nation.

The interview was said to have ended "inconclusively" at 3 o'clock this morning.

Observers recalled, as having an important bearing on the crisis, the often-repeated statement of Josef Stalin, secretary-general of the Communist party:

"The Soviet Union does not want an inch of anyone's territory and will not yield an inch of its own."

The midnight conference was understood to have ended when Stomaniakov told Shigemitsu he was not empowered to deal with the question of troop evacuation. A conference for later today was arranged between the ambassador and Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov.

The Japanese Ambassador repeated his version of the battle to the Soviet representative, charging three Russian gunboats had invaded Manchoukuo waters. The Russian version, as given in a dispatch of the Tass (Russian official) News Agency declared:

"A Japanese - Manchoukuo cutter fired at a Soviet frontier guardboat in the vicinity of Sen-nu-fu Island in the Amur River. Following a return of fire by the Soviet post, the Japanese opened artillery fire from the Manchoukuo shore of Amur on the Soviet frontier cutter cruising near the Soviet shore, damaging the cutter. Two members of the crew were killed and three wounded."

400,000 Troops Ready
Soviet sources declared that if war should come in the Far East it would find 400,000 troops of the eastern Red army prepared for action. The Siberian troops are reported provisioned, supplied and equipped to fight as an independent unit without aid from Russia proper for at least a year.

The Soviet, considering war with Japan a possibility, has for many years poured much of its industrial and agricultural resources into this great army unit which is commanded by Marshal V. K. Blucher with headquarters at Khabarovsk. Supporting this army are an estimated 1,000 to 1,500 airplanes and a submarine base at Vladivostok where about 60 small submarines are understood to be based.

The Soviet claims to have built a series of underground forts along the danger zone. Into these provisions and munitions have been dumped for many years so that, in case of trouble, Marshal Blucher could operate independent of his supply base, thousands of miles away.

The far eastern command's only link with Russia proper is the single-track trans-Siberian railway. The Soviets claim only a few miles remain to be completed before the strategic railroad is double-tracked all the way to Vladivostok, but a seasoned American traveler who arrived here yesterday discounted this claim. The American said the double track was visible only from Omsk to Chita, less than one-third the great distance.

Opposing this Russian force of some 400,000 men, the Japanese claim to have only five armed divisions in Manchoukuo. Military observers pointed out, however, that the Japanese army is a scant few hundred miles from its base as compared with the thousands of miles the Soviet must transport fresh supplies to the war

IT'S A $1,000 TIP

RECOVERY AND RELIEF KEPT STORK ON WING

New York, July 1 (UP)—Recovery and governmental relief have kept the stork busy in New York city during recent months, Thomas J. Duffield, registrar of deeds of the health department, said today. He predicted an annual birth rate increase this year for the first time since 1925.

Giving his explanation of a sharp rise in the city's birth rate for the first five months of this year, Duffield said federal, state, and local relief expenditures, and recent general improvement in business and industry, had given parents means for larger families and confidence in their economic futures.

There were 42,319 births in the city in the first five months of this year, as compared with 40,804 in the same period of last year. Duffield estimated total births this year would exceed 100,000. Last year there were 98,507.

Home Leaders, Behind Toddy Uhl's Pitching, Blank Kyanize, 3-0

Home Leaders Go Into Tie for First Place With Hedricks

Uhl's Two-bagger Also Drives in Winning Run in Second Shutout Over the Painters.

Swarthout's Home Leaders blanked Kyanize Painters for the second time within a week at the Athletic Field, Wednesday evening. The score was 3 to 0 and victory brought the Bakers a first place in the City League standing. The defeat just eliminated the Painters for half honors although they still have a mathematical chance at a tie.

Toddy Uhl again was the reason for the Home Leaders' win. He limited the Painters to four hits, which came one in an inning, with the exception of two in the sixth. Uhl also was responsible for the Painters' defeat last week, making it 14 successive innings he held them in check.

Uhl's two-bagger in the second frame was the key to the victory. It drove a two-bagger to left field and Van Deusen singled to center. The runners advanced to third and second, respectively, on the throw.

The Bakers threatened to score in the sixth after two outs. Uhl drove a two-bagger to left field and Van Deusen singled to center. The runners advanced to third and second, respectively, on the throw.

The Painters' best scoring came in the second frame. One away Dawkins received a pass on balls. Rider singled to left field and Lamb also walked to left field. But Uhl was not scored on for he arose to occasion by fanning Swarthout.

Lamb encouraged the Painters in the seventh when he started in a single to center field. But he again Uhl showed his stuff fanning Swarthout and having a single to left field.

Three doubles were hit by the Painters but the oil donated by Uhl for a homer was never in.

Tommy Lamb walked away from the fielding honors, accepting all chances perfectly.

The race is one of the hottest City League history and the fact that takes The Freeman will know that it had been in a struggle.

There will be plenty of action the rest of the first half, because most of the games are between the leaders—Hedricks, the Bakers and Berardis.

Friday night Hedricks tackle strong Berardi A. C. the score:

Hunting A 'Hope'

—By Pap Americans Win Ryder Cup Match

By GAYLE TALBOT.

Southport, Eng., July 1 (AP)—England's professional golfers, though fine fellows personally and uniformly kind to their mothers, simply can't take it very well under pressure.

That's the painful and reluctant conclusion drawn after watching them—with a couple of notable exceptions—fizzle out like damp firecrackers in the concluding stages of the Ryder Cup matches yesterday.

Even in the Ryder Cup matches, the Britishers individually and collectively showed they had every shot in the Americans' back. But late yesterday, when the going got really tough, and for a dozen matches might be decided, they folded their tents.

The Americans, their spines stiffened by a hostile gallery which roundly applauded missed American putts, played their greatest golf in the crucial stages and won their first cup match on British soil, eight points to four.

Gene Sarazen, three down with only 12 holes to play, came home a winner against Percy Alliss. Gene, burned up at the treatment accorded the Americans by the galloping crowd of at least 12,000 yesterday, doesn't intend to play in England again after next week's open at Carnoustie.

Sarazen didn't particularly mind the loud cheers when he missed shots. He's accustomed to that. What really got his goat was an incident at the 14th hole when the gallery police, finding Alliss' ball just outside the playing confines, moved the out-of-bounds marker back several yards so their man wouldn't lose a stroke.

"That's when I made up my mind to beat him," said Gene. At the 16th hole in the afternoon, with the situation tense and the result still in doubt, Denny Shute holed an important ten-foot putt. There were at least 4,000 spectators clustered on the four peaks surrounding the famous green. Yet a woman's voice exclaimed, "Oh, boy!" sounded like the crack of a whip amid the deadly silence that followed the fine shot.

Farr-Louis Bout Possible for Title

London, July 1 (AP)—Ted Broadbribb, manager for the British heavyweight, Tommy Farr, announced today he was starting negotiations with Nat Fleischer of New York, for a world heavyweight title fight in the United States between Farr and Joe Louis.

Should the negotiations go through, Broadbribb declared, Farr's fight provisionally scheduled for August 9 with Max Schmeling would be cancelled. Broadbribb said his sudden move for a match with Louis came from his annoyance at the decision of the British boxing board of control to recognize the Farr-Schmeling fight as for the world title. "I do not agree with the board of control ruling," Broadbribb said. "We consider Louis the world champion and would rather meet him than Schmeling for the title."

KNITTING MILLS WINS ITS SECOND GAME IN TWO DAYS

The Kingston Knitting Mills, fresh from a 14-2 victory over the Cordis Hose Company, went to work with vigor last night on the Italian-American Club of Glasco, and emerged with a seven-inning 5-4 win.

The Glascoites proved a harder nut to crack than did the hose handlers, but Manager Foire of the Knitters believes his team is quite capable of meeting the best in the city, and he will arrange games with any outfit. His telephone number is 399.

The Association of American Railroads recently declared that based on safety records for the past seven years, a passenger on a train could have ridden more than two and a half billion miles, or continuously for nearly 5,000 years, without meeting death in a train accident.

Great Tooth of Buddha Honored in Gay Pageant

One of India's most elaborate festivals is the pageant of the Sacred Tooth of Buddha. The "perahera" lasts for ten days, ending on the night of the "full moon." Richly adorned chiefs, troops of masked dancers, gaily decorated elephants, brilliantly illuminated streets and colorful processions, turn the city into a festive center.

On the last night the climax is reached with one magnificent procession. Hundreds of elephants take part, and full-dress regalia is worn by the chiefs. In front of the elephants, whips are cracked and tom-toms and drums continually throb. Ever so often the procession halts while special dances take place.

One elephant attracts more attention than its fellows for on its back is carried the golden casket of the sacred tooth of Buddha. This sacred tooth is said to have been taken from the pyre, and is held in reverence by one-third of the world's total population. The tooth is paraded around the streets and then taken back to the temple. Surrounded by a most the temple dates back to the thirteenth century. The library contains ancient manuscripts, written with an iron stylus on talipot leaves.

Black Widow Spider Is More Deadly Than Snake

Old Mother Nature indulges in a grim joke sometimes, and she must have been in one of her "humorous" moods when she created the Black Widow spider. This merry widow of the insect world is one of the nastiest of all the creepy-crawlies—a murderous and dangerous female.

Not only does she kill and eat her husband when she has no further use for him, but she can kill a man in fact, she has sent many to their graves, asserts a writer in Pearson's London Weekly.

The Black Widow is as tough as a gangster, too, and if you ever meet her, the only sure method of putting her out of action is to smash her with something hard, like a swatter or the back of a shovel. Drop for drop, the Black Widow's venom is more deadly than that of the rattlesnake.

Owing to its larger size, the rattlesnake injects much more poison than the Black Widow when it strikes, and, therefore, its death rate is higher—it kills about one in three. The Black Widow kills about one in twenty, but she is more common, and bites more people, so that, in the course of a year, the Black Widow causes more human deaths than does the rattlesnake.

Meaning of Astrology

Astrology is the "science" of reading the fate of human beings in the stars. Astrology has a very long history; the first attempts to read the future by this means were made by the Babylonians, and thence spread to India and China. It reached Europe in the Middle Ages, and became so prevalent that, in the Fifteenth century, no court was complete without its astrologer. Most of the monarchs of those days had the stars read before they started upon any plan or fight, says London Answers Magazine. Astrology must not be confused with astronomy, which is the science and study of the heavenly bodies and their relation to the earth. This also was a subject studied by the ancient races, and as early as the Seventh century B. C., students began to separate the true science of astronomy from the pseudo-science of astrology.

"Four-Footed Toe Dancers"

African antelopes, known as hip-springers, are also called "four-footed toe dancers," because of the characteristic habit they have of poising themselves on the rocks in a position in which their feet resemble those of a ballerina. They rank among the smallest and most interesting of antelopes, standing less than two feet at the shoulder. Extremely nimble, they climb upward in the mountains with great speed, agility and sureness of foot, while in downward leaps they safely negotiate gaps of thirty feet from one rocky ledge to another, steadied upon landing by their cup-shaped "non-skid" hoofs.

Unjustified Attack on Indians

Probably the most atrocious of all the unjustified attacks on Indians by America's sanguinary "Indian fighters" was the Sand Creek (Colorado) massacre on November 29, 1864, in which 900 soldiers swept into this peaceful village of Cheyenne and Arapaho Indians and murdered and scalped 300 men, women and children. The tragedy was later condemned by a congressional investigating committee. —Collier's Weekly.

Influence of Nast's Cartoons

Thomas Nast (1840-1902) remains the dominant figure in the history of American caricature because the influence of his cartoons has never been surpassed. Not only were they an important recruiting factor for the North in the Civil war and also responsible for the overthrow of the Tweed Ring, says Collier's Weekly, but they introduced the donkey to typify the Democratic party, the elephant to represent the Republican party and the tiger to symbolize Tammany Hall.

Samuel D. Riddle, who owned Man O' War and now owns War Admiral, 1937 Kentucky Derby winner, is said never to have wagered on the races.

Baseball Widows

When Mrs. Dean Lays Down Law, Dizzy Shuts Up And Plays Ball

By Mary Elizabeth Plummer

New York (AP)—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean looks the baseball world in the eye each morning with the unbedazzled gaze of a man who's had eight hours sleep.

Who is responsible for that wide-awake look? Mrs. Jerome Herman Dean (Patsy) to her friends) who usually travels around with the ball club, sounds curfew for Dizzy, and won't take "no" for an answer.

Brunette and buxom, Mrs. Dean has a high and serious concept of the duties of a baseball widow. One is to see that her husband, the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching ace, gets to bed at a reasonable hour.

The boys complain she has a habit of breaking up their card games by saying, "C'mon Diz." And Diz comes. The boys don't say much. They know Patsy's right, and if they argued, she would win.

His Chief Adviser

She is one of the most colorful wives in the big leagues. She has a definite philosophy of life, and sticks to her guns.

Every wife should be vitally concerned about her husband's advancement and future, says Mrs. Dizzy. It follows naturally that she should interest herself in his financial arrangements.

Patsy married baseball's "big windjammer" in Houston, Tex., in 1931. Since then, he has made no move without consulting her.

"Two heads are better than one," she says. "All I have ever done is to see that my husband gets everything that is coming to him."

"Baseball stars seldom get what they are worth from their wives without their wives' help and advice."

Part Of The Game

She calls her husband "Jay". He was born Jay Hanna Dean, named after Jay Gould, the financier, and Mark Hanna, the political leader, but changed it to "Jerome Herman" because he had a boyhood friend by that name.

DIZZY DEAN: Rings Curfew For Hubby

Mrs. Dean's permanent home is in Florida but she moves north with the Cardinals when they break camp in the spring.

"Many declare I travel with the Cardinals to keep Jay out of trouble," she says. "But that is not true. I do it because I like that sort of thing, and my husband likes to have me with him."

Patsy loves baseball with the vim of a schoolgirl playing scrub on the corner lot. And baseball loves her. She is as much a part of the great American sport as peanuts in the grandstand and the right to razz.

They Help, Too

Other baseball wives who help their husbands: Mrs. Guy Bush, of Chicago, wife of the Boston Red Sox's veteran righthanded pitcher.

New Standpipe Tested for Leaks

The million-gallon standpipe being erected for the Kingston water department on Marius street has been completed, and this week was filled with water to test it for leaks. The test proved satisfactory and the big tank will now be lined with a bituminous lining, and painted.

The work of laying a 20-inch water main to connect the standpipe with the city water system will be started soon as a WPA project. The 20-inch main will be laid from Washington avenue through Elizabeth street to Marius street. The water department men have laid a pipe line from the standpipe to the pumping station.

At the rate the work is now progressing it is expected that the standpipe will be in operation by the latter part of the month. When the big tank is hooked up with the water system it is expected that it will equalize water pressure in all sections of the city.

UNION GAINS 32 1/2 HOUR WORK WEEK IN NEW YORK

New York, July 1 (AP)—Labor union leaders today greeted triumphantly the 32 1/2 hour work week, which has been embodied in an agreement between the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and employer associations in the industry.

This is the shortest work week ever obtained under a union contract in the United States, said David Dubinsky, president of the union. Under the agreement, reached yesterday, the new work week will become effective June 1, 1939.

This represented a compromise, the union having demanded a 30-hour week, as compared with the present 35-hour week, which the employers sought to maintain.

The remainder of the agreement, which averted a threatened strike of 35,000 cloakmakers in New York, provides a 10 per cent increase for piece workers, a 5 per cent increase in minimums for week workers, and a blanket 35 per cent increase for week workers earning above the minimums.

The budget as amended was approved by the board.

President Schmidt explained that the building committee had devoted considerable time and thought to the plans for relieving congestion and the formation of a long range program of school betterment. Several meetings had been held and last Monday evening the committee met with all available members of the common council, Alderman-at-large Schwenk and the matter had been discussed thoroughly with Mayor Heiselman. After a discussion of the various propositions and an examination of the plans for the three propositions, Mr. Schmidt said, the mayor, Alderman-at-large and the nine members of the common council expressed approval of the plans. Mr. Schmidt said he was sorry it had been impossible to have all of the aldermen at the conference but due to absence from the city or inability to attend, some had not been at the conference.

The matter of finances had been gone into and he said Mayor Heiselman had displayed most unusual knowledge of every financial item and matter relative to the city's present condition.

Gives Report.

Trustee Feeney, chairman of the building committee, then made the report for the committee which includes Trustees Walter and Katz.

Mr. Feeney said that following the report of the special committee of which Judge D. B. Hasbrouck had been chairman and in which it was recommended that a study be made of finances and some plan for immediate relief be worked out, that the building committee had looked into the matter from all view-points with the idea of solution of the problem of congested grade schools and congested high school. The matter had not only been looked into from the point of immediate relief but the proposition was attacked from a viewpoint of giving a long range program of school betterment and one which would provide for adequate school facilities for years to come and a plan which could be carried out step by step as the city developed and more room was required.

As a result these plans had been drawn up. These plans had been secured at no cost to the board. The three propositions were of such a nature that they could be carried out step by step and in the end a comprehensive and adequate school system, capable of serving the city for many years to come, would be brought about.

Proposition No. 3

The first proposition he took up was No. 3, the one which he said the committee did not recommend being carried out now but which would ultimately have to be undertaken in order to have a rounded out and complete system. This proposition No. 3, calls for the alteration of the present high school basement. The present gym, now inadequate for the needs, would be converted into a cafeteria, the present cafeteria would be made into class rooms. The present gym could be made into a cafeteria with a capacity of 560 students. These alterations would cost about $25,000. Then to provide for gym facilities to match the capacity of the building a new gym would have to be erected.

Education Board Sanctions School

At present it was stated the gym in the high school was entirely inadequate and failed to comply with the state requirements. In order to give proper facilities for gym work it was stated the present gym would ultimately have to be replaced and for that reason the committee had made a study of the needs and placed the recommendation in its long range plan for school betterments.

Explained Meeting.

President Schmidt called the meeting to order and explained the purpose of the meeting. All trustees except Trustee Hutton were present. President Schmidt said that the meeting had been called to receive a report of the building committee and to act on a revised budget. The revision in the budget, he said, would not affect the tax rate but simply was a re-arrangement of the expenditures as based on the latest information at hand. The total amount of the budget or the amount to be raised by taxation remains unchanged. The only charges are a reduction of $1,000 in the estimated cost of fuel and a reduction of $1,000 from the contingent fund. This cuts the operating costs $2,000. The total amount of public money from the state, based on attendance, and the tuition revenue it is estimated will be $215,000 instead of $267,000 as at first estimated.

This increase of $18,000 in income and the reduction of $2,000 in operating expenses will provide the sum of $50,000 which is to be added to the $74,000 which was provided for in the prior budget and will make a total of $124,000 for land, new buildings and additions and betterments to school property. This $124,000 which will be raised in the present budget which will come up Tuesday evening before the common council for approval will be the sum referred to by the building committee as a balance in the budget for starting work on the proposed building and which when added to the $250,000 raised by bond issues will provide a fund of $375,000 for the vocational school, eighth grade central school and the acquiring of the stadium.

Budget Approved.

The budget as amended was approved by the board.

President Schmidt explained that the building committee had devoted considerable time and thought to the plans for relieving congestion and the formation of a long range program of school betterment. Several meetings had been held and last Monday evening the committee met with all available members of the common council, Alderman-at-large Schwenk and the matter had been discussed thoroughly with Mayor Heiselman. After a discussion of the various propositions and an examination of the plans for the three propositions, Mr. Schmidt said, the mayor, Alderman-at-large and the nine members of the common council expressed approval of the plans. Mr. Schmidt said he was sorry it had been impossible to have all of the aldermen at the conference but due to absence from the city or inability to attend, some had not been at the conference.

The matter of finances had been gone into and he said Mayor Heiselman had displayed most unusual knowledge of every financial item and matter relative to the city's present condition.

Proposition No. 2, Mr. Feeney explained calls for the erection of a new vocational school along side the present manual arts building, this building to be 59 by 120 feet in size and one story high with walls and roof girders so placed that a second story may be added later as space is required. The building will be so designed that it may be broken up into class rooms with a minimum of cost. In the vocational school additional trades will be introduced to take care of students who do not plan to finish high school or enter college.

Such trades as sheet metal work, automobile mechanics, etc., could be added and even an agricultural course given.

Cost of this building would be from $40,000 to $45,000 and the committee recommended the work be started immediately.

Proposition No. 1

Proposition No. 1, the new eighth grade school unit, was the last plan presented. This calls for a building 232 by 50 feet to contain 25 class rooms. The capacity would be 840 students and the building will be two stories high with a space under the gable roof for music room and lunch rooms, etc.

CHILD BRIDE ASKS DIVORCE

Alma Ruffner Honeycutt, 14, is shown with her six-months-old baby in Wartburg, Tenn. Chancery Court said her husband, Harold, 23, filed a divorce petition and she countered with cross proceedings asking alimony and child custody.

The plan calls for the erection of a new gym at the rear of the present auditorium which would have a capacity of 75 boys and 75 girls at the same time in separate rooms. This would permit gym periods for both boys and girls at the same time where now the gym must alternate between boys and girls and still is inadequate.

There would be a one-story corridor connected to the high school, and running north and south along the rear of the building connecting the new gym with the main structure. The gym would have a court 84 by 40 feet and there is provision for lockers and also supervisors rooms, etc. A central heating plant with two large boilers heat the group of buildings is planned to give greater efficiency and save on engineers' salary, etc., which would be required if several smaller heating units were used. The cost of this gym will be about $154,000 which together with the gym will make proposition No. 3 cost about $179,000.

The building committee recommended that this work be done as soon as the city is financially able so as to give the required gym space as the state outlines.

From the Broadway side of the building these alterations would give the high school the appearance of an additional story. The present terrace would be removed and the windows dropped down lower. However, the committee stated that even with these alterations made the basement rooms would still be second class rooms since the steam pipes and ventilator shafts would remain in the rooms. These alterations would require some 6 to 9 months to complete and in the meantime the cafeteria and locker rooms as well as the gym would be closed to use while alterations were going on.

The committee reported that the gym should be built as soon as possible when funds are available to give a balanced school.

The plans call for a 22-foot ceiling in the gym. Mr. Van Ingen told the board that at present the seniors in the school get but 40 per cent gym work and that does not meet state requirements. The committee recommended the new gym as a part of the long range construction program.

Tentative Approval

It was stated that while the plans have not been officially approved in detail by the State Department, that Mr. Coons, on a former visit here practically approved the idea. The detail plan must, however, be approved by the State Department before put into effect.

Should the plan be approved and the work authorized temporary quarters will be secured to tide over the situation of congestion in the high school until next year. One of the features of the plan as expressed by one member of the board was the fact that if the plan is carried out it will mean that no out of town students will have to be rejected.

The plans call for construction of the building from Ulster county brick.

The board adjourned to meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock to take final action on the proposed plan before submitting it to the Common Council at its meeting next Tuesday evening for approval and a plan of financing the work.

Perry's Food Market

Christopher Perry of 327 Broadway has certified to the county clerk under the provisions of the assumed business name law, that he is conducting a business on Broadway under the name and style of Perry's Food Market.

The eighth grade school is so designed and planned that additional wings may be added for future expansion and the proposed auditorium could also be increased in size at any future time.

Little Excavation.

The building would stand on the rear of the lot back of the high school close to the O'Reilly street side of the lot and facing Andrew street. Entrances would be provided from both O'Reilly and Andrew streets. Under the peaked roof for an additional $10,000 a lunch room, connected with the basement by dumb-waiter, and a music room could be constructed. The plan calls for but little excavation in the rock, except for a boiler room.

Mr. Feeney said the committee recommended that this building be undertaken at once, together with the vocational school.

In the survey of the city schools, in conjunction with the department men, it was found that to buy land and erect additions at Nos. 6 and 7 would cost approximately $225,000, and then none of the other schools of the city would be taken care of. In addition an auditorium would have to be built in at least one of the schools, since the state department has taken a stand that no major improvements may be made in the grade schools without auditorium provision.

The committee also recommended that the Kingston Fair Grounds be purchased and used for a stadium. It was stated that Mayor Heiselman favored this and would submit the stadium as a WPA project.

Mr. Feeney said that the estimates for the eighth grade school, erection of the vocational school and the purchase of the Fair Grounds would make a total expenditure of about $375,000, and this the mayor and alderman-at-large have agreed is now within the means of the city.

After the matter had been discussed at some length it was decided that in order to give the members of the board an opportunity to study the plan and familiarize themselves with it, as had the Building Committee, an adjournment until Friday evening at 8 o'clock should be taken. All of the members expressed themselves as in favor of the plan but it was felt the full board should have an opportunity to look over the proposition.
